

A WRITING OF THEIR OWN: CHINESE WOMAN WRITERS BETWEEN EMPIRE AND MODERNITY

GNDR_ST 341 & ASIAN_LC 300

WINTER
2022

This course focuses on women writers from the end of the Qing dynasty through the Republican period, to conclude with the late twentieth century. We will read the work of authors like Xiao Hong, Zhang Ailing, Ding Ling, Wang Anyi, Can Xue, Guo Xiaolu, Hong Ying, among others, and, drawing from a variety of disciplinary approaches, we will explore the fraught relationship between gender, sexuality, literature, and identity.

Paola Zamperini

---

MW 11am-12:20pm
University Hall 122