

READING GENDER OTHERWISE: INDIGENOUS MOVEMENTS & LITERATURE IN "LATIN AMERICA"

GNDR_ST 490 & LATIN_AM 401

FALL
2023

This course draws from queer and trans Indigenous feminist frameworks to interrogate gender as a social structure that mobilizes all forms of sociopolitical oppression. Through them, we will consider the role that literature plays in Abiayala

(Guna Language meaning "the Americas" [literally, "continent of plenitude and maturity"]) as a gendered form of resistance. Topics will vary and may include indigenous cosmology and coloniality; hegemony, ontology and ethnogenesis; as well as identity politics, indigenous resistance and revitalization, among others.

SB West

Wed 2-4:50pm
Kresge Hall 2-343